Setting: Olongapo City 2018, December

Introduction:

Headbutting is a teen Romance love triangle involving long time friends Nanette Abad, Jermaine Rubio and Nanette's Rival Tanya Querubin, It all started on the night of the 3rd of December through a gift given by Jermaine to Nanette, a subtle declaration of his developing feelings towards Nanette. Testing the waters, Jermaine didn't explain anything as giving gifts to each other is a casual thing between them. However, Nanette sensed something different in his gift, an emotional weight on the box she is holding. As a reaction Nanette brushed it off and denied it must be nothing. As the night continues their conversation goes on and they end up on the topic of pranks and how Nanette used to prank her classmates every Valentines day by putting a love letter inside their bag and watch them lose their damn minds.

When the night ended, Nanette saw what the box contains and didn't know how to react as the contents of the box is Jermaine's Affection towards her. The box is filled with letters and appreciation. In a panic Nanette contacted Jermaine through his Dm's and told him how "OA" cheesy, and must be out of his mind for him to think of her to have a shred of reciprocation or even infatuation for him. Among all the letters and notes one sticks out as it contains the phrases "Don't let my love for you dictate the choices you make, know that regardless I will always look out for you". Fast forward to February 14, 2019, Valentine's day. Everyone is giving gifts of appreciation to each other, some gave flowers and some gave gifts. Nanette slipped a letter inside Jermaine's bag. Jermaine coming home saw the letter and saw it as nothing but a prank probably by one of his classmates as one was pranked earlier the same way and he remembers Nanette's story of how she used to prank her classmates that way. The next day a girl named Tanya approached Jermaine on the school's study center personally and handed the letter and declared her love to him. She also Claimed that she was the one who placed the letter inside his bag. Nanette, hiding behind the pillars of the study center heard everything and realized that she has a competitor.
